THE CREATIVE PROCESS IN 90 MINUTES:

WRITER, DIRECTOR, ACTOR, PRODUCER: MAKING A LIVING IN THE FILM INDUSTRY

Moderated by Fr. Kenneth Gumbert, O.P., featuring Eric Latek, writer, director, motion graphics artist; Tommy DeNucci, writer, actor, director; and Duncan Putney, actor, screenwriter, producer.

The nature of the film industry has changed and evolved as technology has altered the landscape. The standard patterns of distribution have changed, and the rules have been thrown out the window on how to make a living and build a career. Meet four individuals who have taken unique paths as they have charted professional success for a discipline which could easily and fairly be defined as their passion.

About Today's Panelists

Tom DeNucci, Actor/Writer/Director, Graduated from the New England Institute of Technology with a Bachelor of Science degree in digital recording arts. After a couple years of background work, he landed a role on the Showtime series The Brotherhood. 2010 was a big year for Tom, who played "Pax", a wise cracking rookie cop in the Robert Englund horror thriller "Inkubus". Later that year he played along side Peter Ficinelli in the film "Loosies", before capping 2010 off with a leading role in "Infected" playing Michael Madsen's son. DeNucci spent the next year in the writing room, prepping his passion project, the coming of age thriller "Self Storage". In the summer of 2012, DeNucci teamed up with producer Chad A. Verdi and the Woodhaven Production Company to bring Self Storage to life. Tom found himself on both sides of the camera. Aside from writing and directing the picture, he also starred along side Eric Roberts, Jonathan Silverman and Michael Berryman. Tom's accomplished all this before the age of 30 and there doesn't seem to be any signs of him slowing down.

Fr. Kenneth Gumbert, O.P. Besides being a filmmaker, Fr. Gumbert is a painter and sculptor. He was born in Framingham, MA, attended Arizona State University, Graduate Theological Union in Berkeley CA, and University of Utah, where he received a masters degree in fine arts. While in graduate school, he produced two documentary films that aired on PBS: "Ritual Ways" and "Between Two Worlds." He won a Dore Schary award for human relations for one of these documentaries, "Ritual Ways." In 1994, Father Gumbert served as a Production Assistant on the set of the film "Federal Hill," where he earned the nickname "Padre to the Stars." In 2003, he created a documentary, "Saving Grace," which focused on religious persecution in the former Czechoslovakia. Though originally shown on PBS, "Saving Grace" was also shown on the Providence College campus, and several film festivals since. In 2005, Father Ken won a Gabriel Award from the Catholic Academy for Communication Arts Professionals for this documentary. Father Gumbert has been a professor of Humanities and has taught Philosophy, Art and Film at Providence College since his arrival here in 1992. Fr. Gumbert teaches History of Film (Classic and Silent Era), The Catholic Imagination of Four American Filmmakers (John Ford, Frank Capra, Alfred Hitchcock and Martin Scorsese), Film Video Production and Women in Cinema for the women's studies program, where we explore theoretical concerns of women who make and consume films.

Eric Scott Latek graduated with a BS in Film Concentration, Visual and Media Arts & Mass Communication from Emerson College in 1998. Latek's commercial work has landed him several Telly Awards, a Stevie Award and over a half dozen Emmy awards and nominations. Some of his commercial efforts were in directing/producing promotional spots for major companies like IBM, Cox, IGT and Metlife.

The vast knowledge cultivates from Latek's experience in the world of filmmaking. Eric has been working on a feature documentary called "Tiger" which he has been filming for 14 years thus far. His most recent documentary short, "Anna", has won "Best Short Documentary Film" in several film festivals around the world, as well as "Grand Jury Prize".

Duncan Putney is an accomplished actor, as well as an award winning screenwriter and producer. A graduate of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst where he studied both business and theatre, Duncan works as a professional actor in film, television, stage, and television commercials and can be seen in such films as "The Judge," "Mystic River," "R.I.P.D.," "The Town," and "Brilliant Mistakes," as well as TV commercials for Papa Gino's, Budweiser, and others. Always writing, Duncan began to follow that passion professionally and starting in 2003, his work began to get some notice. His writings have gained honors at the International Family Film Festival, the Going Green Film Festival, the Woods Hole Film Festival, the ScreenCraft competitions, the New England Emmy Awards, the Spotlight on Rhode Island Screenwriting Competition, the Dixie Kane Memorial Writing Competition, and others. In 2009, Duncan and long time friend Andre Stark formed Original Concept & Development Associates to develop and produce their own projects. Currently they have several television projects in the development and pre-production stages. Their short film/TV pilot "HALF PINT" took home a Van Gough Award at the 2014 Amsterdam Film Festival and is screening in WW2 museums across the US and in Normandy. His short "THE LESSON" is currently in pre-production with Roman Media. Casey at Maggie Inc., a SAG-AFTRA franchised agent, represents him.

MIRIAM BEERMAN: EXPRESSING THE CHAOS | Jonathan Gruber, Director | 53 min. USA, 2015
Miriam Beerman was born in Providence, Rhode Island in 1923 with a visual gift for the world around her. She quickly knew that painting would be her life. A recipient of two Fulbright fellowships, among numerous other honors, she had the first-ever solo female show at the Brooklyn Museum in 1971. Yet even in the art world she was challenged as a woman in another male-dominated profession.

From New England to Paris to New York, Miriam's artistic demons have led to haunting images that evoke the suffering of generations of victims. Her gripping work is housed at some of the most hallowed institutions in the world, including the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Victoria and Albert Museum in London, the Whitney Museum of American Art, the Corcoran Museum of Art, the Israel Museum in Jerusalem, the Jewish Museum in New York, Yale University, the Mint Museum, and the U.S. State Department.

At 91 years old, Miriam now lives in a residence home near her family in Washington, D.C. Her memory is not what it once was, yet she is still generating compelling and forceful art. It's one of the only things she is sure of.

The film is a memorable profile of an artist who has elevated her empathy for the plight of the world's castoffs into powerful portrayals of dignity.

GOODBYE THERESIENSTADT | Carl Otto Dethlefsen and Jonatan Jerichow, Directors | 58 min.
Czech Republic, Denmark, France, Israel, 2015

Over 7,000 Jews escaped from Denmark to Sweden when the occupying Germans tried to round up Danish Jews in October 1943. Yet regrettably, 470 Jewish men, women and children were captured and put into cattle cars bound for the Theresienstadt concentration camp.

Seventy years after they were miraculously rescued from Theresienstadt, six Danish Jews who were children at the time return to the concentration camp where they suffered for a year and a half, consumed by hunger, anxiety and fear of what tomorrow might bring.

The six individual stories are intertwined, as the survivors tell of their failed escape to Sweden, the horrible journey to Theresienstadt, the appalling conditions in the concentration camp, and finally of their rescue from Theresienstadt in the final weeks of the war.

The survival of these six people illustrates what Denmark did to save the Danish Jewish population, getting most of them to safety, and trying to protect those who were captured and interned.

ORO MACHT FREI / GOLD WILL SET YOU FREE | Jeffrey Bonna, Director | 70 min. Italy, USA, 2014

After Italy's Armistice with the Allied Armies (Sept 8, 1943), the Germans occupied the Italian peninsula as far south as Naples. Rome and its ancient Jewish population fell under German control. 'Oro Macht Frei' tells the story of the 9-month Nazi occupation of Rome through the testimonies of 9 Roman Jews, archival footage, family photos and the contribution of renowned historians, Alexander Stille, Susan Zuccotti, Liliana Picciotto, Frank Coppa and Robert Katz. In addition to stories of hiding and arrest, OMF examines the period of Mussolini's Racial Laws (1938-1945) as well as the Catholic Church's response to the round-up of the Roman Jews.

PRESIDENT'S DISTINGUISHED SPEAKERS SERIES: SCIENCE HISTORIAN NAOMI ORESKES

Naomi Oreskes, professor of the history of science at Harvard University, is a world-renowned historian of science and the author of more than 100 scholarly and popular books, articles and opinion pieces. Her work, including the acclaimed book and documentary film "Merchants of Doubt" (co-authored with Erik M. Conway) tackles the ways in which scientific communication and misinformation campaigns for political leverage have misled the public on serious issues from smoking to climate change. Oreskes has been lauded for her efforts to elevate public discourse on human-caused climate change, and in 2015 wrote the introduction to Pope Francis's encyclical on climate change and inequality, "On Care of Our Common Home."

Ms. Oreskes's books have been translated into nine languages, and she has won numerous prizes and awards, including the 2014 American Geophysical Union Presidential Citation for Science and Society; the 2015 Public Service Award of the Geological Society of America; and the 2015 Herbert Feis Prize of the American Historical Association for her contributions to public history.

Poet Against Prejudice | Faiza Almontaser, Director | 27 min. USA, 2014

Faiza Almontaser is a 17-year old senior attending the Brooklyn International High School. In 2006 Faiza immigrated with her family to Brooklyn, NY from a small farming town in Yemen. Raised as a religious Muslim, she often struggles to reconcile her cultural background with the realities she meets as a high school student in one of New York City's most socially dynamic neighborhoods.

I Cherish My Home | Bahador Adab, Director | 26 min. Iran, 2015

A woman, a wife, a mother who is trying to be there for her husband and her children as the family is experiencing some financial crises. The family seems well off at first but then we learn about their financial problems. A husband that always used to provide now feels like a failure and her efforts at motivating him are seen as pity by him. The story happens over three days. The day before her birthday, her birthday and the day after. She is the glue of the family, but in the middle of all this, she seems to have forgotten herself.

FILM FESTIVAL

April 10-17, 2016

Filmmaking and Storytelling: How does one write a script that sells? Can you make a living in a highly competitive business while still maintaining your quality of life? How do you take an idea and transpose it to the screen? In a freeform discussion, learn from award-winning screenwriter, Chris Sparling, who will share his journey and inspiration.

About our Guest Speaker:

Chris Sparling was born and raised in North Providence, Rhode Island. He wrote the 2010 film BURIED starring Ryan Reynolds, for which he won "Best Original Screenplay" from the National Board of Review of Motion Pictures, as well as a Spanish Academy Award in the same category. His Black List script, ATM, was produced by Gold Circle Films and released by IFC Films in 2012. Chris's feature directing debut, the supernatural thriller THE ATTICUS INSTITUTE, was released in early 2015 by Universal Pictures. THE SEA OF TREES, which he wrote and produced, starring Matthew McConaughey, Namoi Watts, and directed by Gus Van Sant, was nominated for the Palm d'Or at the 2015 Cannes Film Festival, where it received its world premiere. He is currently adapting author Jo Nesbo's bestselling crime novel BLOOD ON SNOW for Warner Brothers and Leonardo DiCaprio, and is adapting the book DOWN A DARK HALL for Lionsgate Films. He has also sold TV projects to F/X, Universal Television, and Fox Television Studios.

THURGOOD MARSHALL MEMORIAL LECTURE

Blindspot: Hidden Biases Happen to Good People

Keynote Address by Mahzarin Banaji, Richard Clarke Cabot Professor of Social Ethics, Department of Psychology Harvard University

The School of Law presents its seventh lecture in this series, which honors the memory of Thurgood Marshall. Thurgood Marshall was a key architect of the legal strategy that convinced the Supreme Court to declare unconstitutional the doctrine of "separate but equal," which had allowed racial segregation in public education and many other aspects of American life. Thurgood Marshall later served with distinction and as a protector of civil rights as Solicitor General of the United States and later as the first African-American Justice on the United States Supreme Court.

Consolation Prize | Todd Kipp, Director | 11 min. Canada, 2014

A delusional deadbeat dad living on an inherited wasteland of wrecked cars and trucks, tries to connect with his son over a surprise weekend visit.

17 BEGINNINGS OF TALIA | Directed by: Yoni Bentovim, 73 min. Israel, United Kingdom, 2015

Through seventeen decisively varying styles of observation, director Yoni Bentovim delves into the essence and meaning of discourse between mother and son – a dialogue that transcends words and time. Ultimately this not a film about 17 beginnings but a film about one ending - definite, clear and known in advance. Talia Shapira - national figure and celebrated actress, torn between her conflicting roles in life and art, is faced with the toughest role of all, how to say good-bye to her son. Through 17 chapters of observation that constitute an abstract and emotional mosaic, this is an intense investigation into the essence and meaning of a dialogue between mother and son, a dialogue that transcends words and time.

SHORT FILM SHOWCASE: An Exploration of Identity

Invisible | Zofia Pregowska, Director | 22 min. Poland, 2014

The Polish filmmaker Zofia Pregowska wanted to make her graduation film using the fly-on-the-wall technique, with the camera unobtrusively present and the filmmaker pretending to be absent. She took her camera to the tiny apartment that is home to 90-year-old Krystyna, who lives surrounded by books and writing pads. That's remarkable in itself since Krystyna is almost blind, but that doesn't stop this still vital woman from writing passionate and eloquent poetry that celebrates life.

Boy Code | Christian LaMorte, Director | 21 min. USA, 2015

A highly insecure senior in an all-boy Catholic prep school struggles to live up to the idealistically masculine and misogynistic image bestowed upon him by his peers.

Headlong | Nadia Bedzhanova, Director | 8 min. Russia, 2014

Alice steps out of her comfort zone to share a spontaneous moment with her teammate.

Blurry | Anthony Falleroni, Director | 7 min. USA, 2014

A woman with an over-active imagination sees the world unlike anyone else, but that's not always a good thing. When her visions become too distracting, she leaps at the opportunity to get a chip implant that removes her imagination. After the procedure, her entire perspective on life and herself changes... but for the better?

A Chance To Dress | Alice Bouvrie, Director | 39 min. 2015, USA, 2015

Dr. John Southard, a world renown and respected geologist and professor at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, MIT, is an open cross dresser. The film explores the various dimensions of identity and the diversity of gender expression.

Flankers | Justin Oakey, Director | 14 min. Canada, 2014

On the eve of a storm in rural Newfoundland, feuding fishermen are forced to set their conflicts aside when an emergency arises.

Kamakshi | Satindar Singh Bedi, Director | 25 min. India, 2015

End of the world water-less village. An 80 year old woman Kamakshi is a water-seller for travelers in a desert land. As she grows older she digs her own well with the money saved in a boat left by oceans before near her house.

Wien For Life | Alidor Dolfing, Director | 24 min. Belgium, 2014

An off-the-wall crime comedy about two oddballs whose unusual friendship is torn apart by a winning lottery ticket scratched off in a desolate petrol station on the border between Flanders and France.

Beverly | Alexander Thomas, Director | 25 min. United Kingdom, 2015

Beverly is a short film set in Leicester in 1980. It follows a mixed race girl's struggles to carve out a sense of identity in a confusing, shifting, cultural landscape. Whilst the film follows its protagonist's journey, it simultaneously explores British cultural history and concepts of British identity. The backdrop is one of the most explosive post-war British subcultures, the 2 Tone movement which saw the coming together of black and white musicians and the union of the musical influences of Jamaican based Ska and British based Punk.

'How do you know that Adam and Eve weren't black?...' An awkward comedy about first dates, race, and racism.

THE VALLEY BELOW | Kyle Thomas, Director | 87 min. Canada, 2014 UNITED STATES PREMIERE

The Valley Below is a multi-narrative drama that chronicles the life of a small town in the badlands of Alberta over the course of one year.

Alberta's arid central badlands provide the spectacular backdrop for The Valley Below, an intimate and potent look at a group of Drumheller residents. First-time feature director Kyle Thomas divides four related narratives into separate vignettes, moving gently from one character to the next, allowing us time to settle in and roam, to feel the textures of the characters' emotional states, and to glimpse their deepest longings and secrets.

The logo for the Roving Eye Film Festival features the word "rovingeye" in a blue, lowercase, sans-serif font. Above the "i" in "roving" are three overlapping circles in red, blue, and green. Below "rovingeye" is the text "FILM FESTIVAL" in a red, uppercase, sans-serif font. At the bottom, the dates "April 10-17, 2016" are written in a smaller, brown, sans-serif font.

College-bound nineteen-year-old Kate (Mikaela Cochrane) is about to leave behind her boyfriend, Henry (Joe Perry), but just before their farewell camping trip together, she discovers she is pregnant. Warren (Kris Demeanor), a zamboni driver at the local rink, is a gifted singer-songwriter whose dreams are hamstrung by his alcoholism. Reclusive taxidermist and father of two Gordon (Stephen Bogaert) tries to maintain his dignity while repairing a failing marriage. The guardian of the community, Barry (Alejandro Rae), is an ambitious police constable and part-time local radio host who must deal with the crises of the town's inhabitants. From these quotidian beginnings, Thomas fashions a quartet of honest, vulnerable portraits that echo the writing of Raymond Carver in their striking and complex interiority.

Taking us on an exquisite tour of the etched, eroded landscapes of his characters' inner lives, Thomas has crafted a rich and complex picture of a rural town over the course of a single year, and a powerful meditation on love and loss.

SAAHP LECTURE: AND THERE IT WAS

Lisa Perez's artist statement: I make sculptural paintings, objects, and works on paper that circle around ideas of attention, perception and perceived degrees of dimensionality. Through pictorial reduction and chromatic expressivity, I construct and paint forms that initially appear minimal, but upon closer reflection there are playful extremes in color, shadow and form, with a subtle humor that counters austerity. These abstract works explore the awkward human attempts to achieve perfection, an often futile pursuit in the shifting nature of reality. For more information on Lisa Perez, visit <http://lisaperezstudio.com/>.

Maxwell Van Pelt's artist statement: I strive for balance, continually pushing to see my work with fresh perspective. My curiosity about the meaning and fabrication of objects lies in how sometimes, by means of implicit logic and little more, a set of unfolding relationships can lead eye and heart towards a final form – a vital remnant of attention and intention, of time, place, person, and culture. I strive to ascertain and instigate a mindfulness that connects us sympathetically to our surroundings. The resulting works are optimistic, places where divergent attitudes, appearances, and forces have a tendency to converge and resolve in the necessities of cohabitation. The participation of a viewer allows these visual expressions to move from ambiguous to something specific and personal – the production richest in its potential not just to represent ideas, but to evoke them with frequency: regularly, and in appropriate tones. As I respond to these inquiries, I have been making intricate sculptures, exuberant paintings, and hybrid installations that navigate the geometries of architectural, environmental, and emotional space together with the arising inscapes of my imagination. Regardless of media, the work anchors firmly in the experience of drawing and the exploration of dimensionality. For more information on Maxwell Van Pelt, visit www.maxvanpelt.com/.

FEATURE PRESENTATION

SexLife | Stefan Georgiou, Director | 15 min. United Kingdom, 2014

Based on the critically acclaimed play, SexLife is the story of Dan's ham-fisted attempts to get 'new' mother Mia into bed with hilarious, emotional and musical consequences.

As Good As You | Heather de Michele, Director | 85 min. USA, 2015

Jo's (Laura Heisler) world is thrown into utter disarray when her wife Amanda passes away. Her cozy domestic life shattered, her writing career tossed aside, Jo desperately starts chasing a dream that she and Amanda had once shared – starting a family together. Jo asks her late wife's brother, Jamie to be her sperm donor. Crazy ensues, in the form of a visit to the fertility clinic's psychologist (Annie Potts), and a love triangle with her two best friends, NATE (a straight man with his own tragic past—played by Raoul Bhaneja) and LISA (Jo's best friend, a lesbian punk photographer and bar owner—played by Anna Fitzwater). AS GOOD AS YOU is a human-scale, character-driven film set in a sleepy, safe Los Angeles; it's a serious comedy about trying to grieve the right way, and maybe growing up a bit in the process.

EINE GUTE GESCHICHTE (A Good Story) | Martin-Christopher Bode, Director | 20 min., 2013, Germany

When Helga Landowsky discovers the broken jug in an antiques store near the German/Polish border, she wants to have it at any cost. But the old lady has reckoned without Jakub Lato. Because the antiquarian does not want to trade his ware for money. In exchange for the jug, he wants Helga to tell him a story. And a story she can tell. It is an experience from the second world war. A story about pain and loss. And while Helga is still narrating, she and Jakub begin to realize that both their lives are wondrously interwoven. And that they are now, almost 70 years later, telling the story is last chapter together. Because only this way, the story can finally become a good story.

German Shepherd | Nils Bergendal, Director | 10 min. 2014, Sweden

Growing up as an American Jew with a Holocaust survivor mother, David is haunted by 'the Nazi thing', an irrational fear for Germans and an obsession with Holocaust movies. Nils Bergendal interprets David's interview into a wry animated introspection, questioning whether it's wise to look to the past for answers.

IT TAKES A SCHOOL | Tami Gross and Maya Rothschild, Director | 57 min. Israel, 2015 • UNITED STATES PREMIERE

Tel Hai, ranking in the top tenth percentile of all primary schools in Israel is surprisingly situated in Kfar Shalem, one of the most distressed neighborhoods in Tel Aviv. The population consists of mostly low income and broken families, new immigrants, foreign workers and African asylum seekers. A few years ago, principal Einat Berger went on a sabbatical, feeling frustrated. Violence was surging, students' achievements were poor, and teachers' morale was low. Upon returning, Einat introduced a revolutionary approach, "the Language of Mindfulness," a method incorporating meditation techniques, Yoga practices and guided imagery adapted for children. Aiming to focus on the students' emotional well-being, to bolster their self-confidence and to help them discover and develop their talents. This is the key according to Einat's understanding to improve their academic achievements and help them forge a place for themselves in the world.

Tel Hai is one of the first schools in the world to incorporate a program such as this as part of its public education programming. Teachers are constantly incorporating these techniques in their regular classes. Now the school can hardly be recognized. A unique experiment is underway, benefiting not only the students and teachers, but even parents and the community. Parents from more affluent neighborhoods are clamoring to have their children accepted into the school. As we began to look closer at the student body, we uncovered some remarkable children with inspirational stories behind them. Our film shows the program at

Paris on The Water | Hadas Ayalon, Director | 29 min. Israel, 2015

Paris on the Water tells the story of a passionate woman who is imprisoned in a sick body and is forced to confront her age, her husband and the reality of her life.

Wandering Rabbi | Henry Wiener, Director | 14 min. USA, 2014

Wandering Rabbi follows Rabbi Marshal Klaven, a 34 year old, itinerant rabbi, as he travels across the American South, visiting a circuit of small Jewish communities, leading Shabbat services, ministering at life cycle events, and providing guidance and advice to the members of these small communities.

Reverence | Collin Kornfeind, Director | 13 min. USA, 2015

'Reverence' is a documentary short that explores the meaning and context behind branded yarmulkes and the concept of reverence in America today. From a Batman symbol to a Mets logo – this small icon of reverence has been adapted to the mainstream. 'Reverence' explores the phenomenon of custom and branded yarmulkes in Jewish-American communities, the religious norms that custom kippahs challenge in a capitalistic society, and the notion of 'fitting in' and 'standing out' within the Reform and Conservative Jewish community.

Samuel-613 | Billy Lumby, Director | 15 min. 2015, United Kingdom.

The story of Shmilu, a Hasidic Jew in crisis, torn between his community and the romantic possibilities of trendy East London.

This is the first fictional film made with the UK's Hasidic population, including non-professional actors and Yiddish dialogue. It explores culture clash, identity struggle and the spiritual consequences. (BAFTA 2016 Nominee for Best Short)

Brian Mayer, cantor Temple Emanu-El, Providence

Cantor Mayer's resume is diverse and rich. He conveys Jewish knowledge through his love of chanting, teaching, composing, conducting and performing Jewish music. For the past quarter century, Cantor Mayer has led Shabbat and High Holy Day services, using well-loved cantorial melodies and teaching new tunes that have become familiar favorites. Cantor Mayer has incorporated beloved Yiddish standards and his own choral compositions into this eclectic mix.

Cantor Mayer is a respected scholar of Hazzanut (Jewish cantorial music) who is known nationally for his innovative, artistic and participatory music programming. He is loved for his commitment to the Temple's youth through his extraordinary Torah Tutor program, his Religious School teaching and the development of the Kol Kesem/HaZamir teen choir. The music program he has built at Temple Emanu-El is diverse and unique: in addition to HaZamir, he has established Shir Emanu-El and developed the Temple Emanu-El choir, two accomplished adult choirs, as well as the Shabbat Chai and Kol Klezmer bands.

In 2009, Cantor Mayer was the artistic director of the award-winning "Shining Through Broken Glass: A Kristallnacht Concert," a regional event which featured musicians and performers from the larger community and the actor and artist Leonard Nimoy as narrator. Cantor Mayer has also brought an exuberant spirit of musical collaboration to annual community interfaith observances, including the Martin Luther King Day community event.
